

Watts Erupts Again-In New York Leading Cougars To 2nd NIT Title

NYU Ignites Powderkeg And Y Offense Explodes

By Gary Wood
Associated Sports Editor

NEW YORK—BYU's explosive Cougars showed a nation-wide TV audience and a packed house at Madison Square Garden Saturday why they were rated number one in the National Invitational Tournament.

THE BRIGHAM YOUNG quintet accepted the championship trophy after a 97-84 triumph over New York University in the tourney finals.

It was the second NIT title for BYU, who last won the tournament in 1951.

COACH STAN WATTS gave credit for the win to control of the boards and an aggressive defensive effort on the part of the Y cagers.

"The boys put in 40 minutes of basketball in this one," said Coach Watts following the contest, comparing the rout of the Violets in the NIT finale with the Cougars' two previous tourney games.

COACH RED AUERBACH, of the Boston Celtics, commenting on the BYU-NYU encounter, evaluated it in these words: "BYU simply overpowered them. They (the Cougars) outplayed them all over the court."

The Cougars shot a blistering 59 per cent in the first half, but the

New Yorkers were hot, too, and matched their bigger foes almost basket for basket until the midway point. The score at half time was 40-43 in BYU's favor.

THE BLUE and white-clad hoopsters shifted their attack into high gear after the intermission and built the lead to 18 points with 11:17 to go in the game.

From that point the Cougars coasted to victory.

THE BYU ATTACK was led by two player—Craig Raymond and Gary Hill—who were non-starters before the tournament. Raymond and Hill were the high scorers for BYU with 21 apiece, and were followed closely by Steve Kramer with 20. Kramer was outstanding in the three tournament outings.

Dick Nemelka, who sat on the bench almost half the game with four fouls, still put 15 key points through the hoop.

NEMELKA's companion on the guard line, Jeff Congdon, accounted for 11 of the Cougar's total and set up his mates for several baskets. The flashy guard set the crowd buzzing with his court wizardry.

Security Rescues Coed Mountaineer

BYU coed, Barbara Ann Gray, was rescued security officers from the south face of Rock on Saturday afternoon.

MISS GRAY, a freshman from Idaho Falls had climbing with a companion Arthur Barnes who instructing her in mountaineering.

According to Miss Gray, "I was just climbing and didn't wait for him (Barnes) to anchor ope. I fell backward.

I LOOKED at my leg which was all out of —and knew it was broken."

Barnes, a Californian who is a graduate student asic at BYU, checked to see that Miss Gray as comfortable as possible, then made her down the mountain and phoned for help.

YU SECURITY including Captain Nielson reld to the call and ascended the mountain with al other climbers.

Miss Gray was placed on a litter and first-aid was administered after which the rescuers carried her to the base of the mountain where a Security ambulance was waiting.

SHE WAS TAKEN to the Utah Valley Hospital where her leg was set in a cast. She will remain in the hospital for a week.

According to Captain Nielson the two climbers had the necessary equipment for the particular type of climbing they were doing; however Miss Gray was not wearing correct climbing boots which rescue team members say might have prevented her fall.

MISS GRAY said she is fond of the out-of-doors but doubted she will do much more mountain climbing.

Her parents, who had been notified of their daughter's accident arrived at the hospital, and the first thing Mrs. Gray did was to write on her daughter's cast: "No more mountain climbing."

The Cougar Championship—Double Win

The Cougar basketball team really brought home a big one!

The double triumph for BYU in the National Invitational Tournament most effectively caps a year of growing prominence for the Cougars in the national athletic sphere.

But the victory is indeed a total victory because it brought not only honor and acclaim for a crew of twelve talented basketball players and a dedicated coaching staff but also to the school as a whole.

The cheering legions of "instant" BYU fans from Villanova and Army plus others in the championship contest was a testimony to the way the Cougar image surged to the top of the big New York City tourney.

The tremendous play of the team impressed the Madison Square Garden fans, as did the enthusiasm of the Cougar Pep band, flag twirlers, and others who were in New York to support the winning N.I.T. cause.

This unified support of the "double victory" which the team and the supporters bring back to Provo.

Looking at only the sports side of it, the first National Invitational Tournament victory for BYU since it turned the same trick fifteen years ago, plummeted the team to new heights and gave a proper climax after the "long" season which was not without its ups and downs.

From the first game the team played on the South American trip, to the final bids of NYU, the Cougars played ball with all the fervor of their accustomed style.

Some times that style met its stumbling blocks, but when the smoke had cleared

... the Cougars literally found themselves at the top of the heap.

Large credit must go to Cougar Coach Stan Watts, who led his troops effectively through all kinds of obstacles to the N.I.T. championship. Facing the traditional "wolves" who will cry everytime a coach the veteran coach many times made the right moves at precisely the right time. Never was his uncanny ability more obvious than in the final two tournament games, when he put men like Craig Raymond and Jim Jinas in the game at precisely the "right" time.

And the team! It was very fitting indeed that a Villanova player won the tournament Most Valuable Player award ... because the Cougar players worked so tightly together as a unit ... it would be impossible to pick the single man of the hour.

They all were men of the hour, and so it is true that the NIT championship was completely a team effort. Credit must also be given to all of the other staff members, trainers and assistant coaches who have worked so closely with the team.

The other side of the BYU victory is very sweet. From the teams of newspaper copy that was written in New York about the BYU flag twirlers to the pro basketball scouts with their eyes glued on the backcourt tactics of Dick Nemelek and Jeff Congdon, the focus of the people of the United States was on Brigham Young University.

The splendid account the team and the school gave of itself will no doubt be the biggest boost to BYU prestige in a long time.

Election Nominations Snow 5 Unopposed

Nominations for class officers are now complete, although AS-BYU Elections Committee members remain worried about the lack of candidate interest in the coming class election, according to Steve Smith, co-chairman of the Elections Committee.

ALTHOUGH the deadline was supposed to allow more nominees to register for the offices, five class candidates are left unopposed for the final ballot.

There are now 36 candidates running for a minimum of 40 positions on the ballot ticket, said Smith. Because of the evident disinterest shown in the forthcoming election, class primaries have been dropped all together, he said.

THIS will eliminate the possibility for primary "write-in" candidates who would otherwise give some competition to the unopposed nominees.

Smith said, "It is surprising that on a campus of this size, so many students are not interested in giving their talents to the necessary of student government."

"SURELY the associated students realize the advantages of organized representation to the unchallenged of the administration," he said.

The Elections Committee said that if voter interest rises in the coming weeks, it will only as the result of individual effort and enthusiasm on the part of each and every member of the student body.

THOSE RUNNING for class officers are: president, Keith Franklin; vice-president, J. D. Haney; Ralph Rostad; secretary, S. Wrathall; assemblyman, Steve Nelson; Bryan B. Shafer; and S. Carpenter.

Candidates for the senior officers are: president, Hoagland and Bill Hale; vice-president, J. D. Haney; Lynn Lodge; secretary, Davies; assemblyman, Welker; Gene Lines, Mark Trent, Kiley, and D. J.

JUNIOR CLASS candidates: president, Tom Ferguson; Keith Franklin; vice-president, Doug Harrell and Darlene; secretary, Mary Brown and Ann Nebeker; assemblyman, Barid, Duane Chase, Lambert, and Lynn J. M.

Running for sophomore officers are: president, Smith; vice-president, B. Cox and Synda Cottam; secretary, Woodward and C. Hales; assemblyman, Steve Nelson, Bryan B. Shafer, and D. J. Haddon.

Smith said that there is a good chance for assembly candidates to be elected.

Viet Nam Voted Aired At Senate

Two "doves" and a testified before the modern Foreign Relations Committee as the group would bring on the subject of the Viet Nam.

TWO UNIVERSITY of Utah students testified along with a student and a BYU Police officer.

Michael McKain, member of U. Student Action, U. Justice Committee, told the Senate that the choice of Nam is "between war and peace." The best way to see for these people to be sent to the United States, McKain said.

A FRENCH U. student representing the W.E. DuBois Club in Salt Lake City, also testified before the Senate.

Also testifying at the final session was Reta, head of BYU International Studies, and Dr. Ray, head of the Physical Science Professor.

Mayhew Story Contest Winners Receive $500 In Cash Awards

Winners of the Mayhew Short Story Contest were notified of their selection by mail Tuesday. A total of $500 will be divided among the writers of the top four stories.

FIRST-PLACE winner is Brian Kelly, a senior in advertising-public relations, for his story "A Run of Grey." He will receive $250 at the English Department awards banquet April 28.

Jim Largo, a senior from Crownpoint, New Mexico, won second place and $125 with his story "Johnny Antelope." Third place went to Steven Berry, a sophomore journalism major from Alhambra, California. His "The Demise of Jose Maria Pereira" has earned him $75.

DENNIS BERKETT, a junior in journalism from North Ogden, who was named next year's UNIVERSE editor last week, will get $50 for his contribution entitled "Friday Nights."

Two stories received honorable mention: "The Freedom Butterfly" by Robert Rhodes, and Elizabeth Hatch's "The Howl of the Wind." Other finalists include Lin Bothwell, Rebecca Buchanan, Darlene Long, Robert Marci, Dennis Reed, Wayne Turley and Jerrie Wirkus.

A TOTAL OF 60 stories were submitted, according to Dean Wayne B. Clark, who supervised the contest in his capacity as an English professor. Judges agreed that story quality was "far superior to that in preceding years," Dean Clark said. Also, far fewer stories were entered in the two previous contests.

The contest is sponsored annually by Wayne E. Mayhew in honor of his wife, Vera Hinkley Mayhew, who herself did creative writing while at BYU. Mayhew is a business executive in Berkeley, California. The purpose of the contest is to encourage creative writing at BYU.

A SCREENING committee of three members, Dr. Clinton F. Larson, chairman, Miss Elouise Bell, and Douglas Thayer, all of the English Dept., chose 13 stories for final competition. These stories were then judged by Dr. Larson, Dr. Edward Hart, professor of English, and Dr. Carlton Culmsee, dean of the College of Humanities and Arts, Utah State University.

The winning stories will be published in the spring issue of the WYE magazine.

Foreign students wanting to attend school in the United States need sponsors to help them enter the country, according to Dr. Ariel Ballif, foreign student advisor.

RECENTLY THE Blue Key Honor Fraternity has undertaken the formulation of a list of U.S. citizens desiring to help these students. Ed Parrott, chairman of the Blue Key foreign student committee, said that many don't understand the requirements for sponsoring a foreign student.

ANY RESPONSIBLE adult could qualify as a sponsor if he resides in the U.S. The sponsor may help his student financially.

If he wishes to do so, this is not necessary. Most foreign students are independent and are careful of themselves once they are admitted to the U.S. The government's main concern is that the foreign student does not become a ward of the State.

Parent stated that most of the present sponsors are the families of foreign missionaries. He said that many people would like to help foreign students but because of lack of understanding and organization this program has never been exploited.

Sponsors Solicited

Foreign students wanting to attend school in the United States need sponsors to help them enter the country, according to Dr. Ariel Ballif, foreign student advisor.

TWO PER cent of the foreign students who apply to BYU for admission ever get to the university. The major reason for this is the difficulty they encounter in finding a sponsor. Ballif reports that at the present time there is no definite source to which a student may turn to find a sponsor. There are over 300 foreign students on campus and half are Canadians who do not require a sponsor. The other foreign students are those who know or have a friend in the U.S. to help them.

Upping Secret Defense Costs

There is, however, what some consider a suspicious gap between admitted military spending and explanations of why civilian spending is still limited. The gap might indicate undercover defense costs.

Sunday morning, the 101st troopers found a Viet Cong squad of 10 and killed one of them.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara has said the new bomber will fly about twice as fast as the B-52.

Cougar Blitz Shatters New York

BYU front line pulled in more stray shots than the entire NYU team.

RAYMOND LED both squads with 12. Kramer had 16, and Hill 11. For the game, the Cougars out-rebounded NYU 56-43.

The Violets drew first blood when Kaplan scored on a jump shot, but BYU came back with three field goals and a free throw to lead 7-3 a minute and a half into the contest.

NYU TIED UP at 15-all at 14:05 and went ahead on another Kaplan jumper from 15 feet.

However, Raymond tied it up with a lay-in and Nemeika shot the Cougars back into the lead with a 12 jump shot.

THE NYU HOOPSTERS refused to be shrinking Violets, and knotted the score again at 26-all with 11 minutes gone in the half. The score was tied at 30 and 32, before Nemeika put the Cats in the lead for good at 34-30 with a 16-footer.

The Violets closed to within one point, 44-43, with 51 seconds remaining in the half but Kramer and Raymond combined to make it 48-43 at the intermission.

FOR THE FIRST five and a half minutes of the second half NYU managed only one field goal until Kaplan connected from 15 feet on a jumper. By that time the Cougars held a 12-point lead, and were just getting warmed up.

Before the Violets could generate a counter-offensive, the Y cagers were in front by 75-57.

THE STUBBORN Violets, still refusing to wilt under the relentless BYU onslaught, strived valiantly to make a come-back.

Largely on the red-hot outside shooting of Stan McKenzie, NYU closed the gap to 84-74 with 4:24 left to play. But the local squad began to commit too many fouls in its desperation effort to get the ball, as the Cougars successfully protected their big lead with a batch of free throws.

McKENZIE WAS the game's leading scorer with 27 points; the NYU ace made 19 of his team's last markers.

It was a brilliant team effort for the Brigham Young cage squad which finished up the season with a 29-3 record.

IT WAS ONLY THE fourth time in the 29 years of NIT competition that the top seeded team had won the championship. The triumph gives Coach Watts a 2-3 mark in NIT wars.

The veteran Y mentor took teams to the post-season tourney in 1933 and 1954, both of which were eliminated early.

NEW YORK University has yet to win in eight tries. The Violets have made it to the finals twice. The loss was a disheartening blow to NYU who made it to the final game against top seeded BYU after being the next-to-last team invited to the tournament.

Craig Raymond, who surprised everybody with his stellar play against the Violets, gave as a reason to reporters: "It was the excitement of this great tournament."

HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE?

Eighteen years ago Evelyn Wood, a Utah schoolteacher, made a startling discovery that led to the founding of Reading Dynamics. While working toward a master's degree, she handed a term paper to a professor and watched him read the 80 pages at 6,000 words per minute—with outstanding recall and comprehension. Determined to find the secret behind such rapid reading, she spent the next two years tracking down 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words per minute. She studied their techniques, taught herself to read at these faster rates. Now, after years of experience in public schools and universities, she has made it possible for you to benefit from this great discovery.

IS IT SIMPLY A PROMOTION STUNT?

Over the past eleven years more than 200,000 graduates have been convinced that Reading Dynamics is a proven method. About Reading Dynamics' impact on our nation's legislators, Time Magazine said "Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

SENATOR PROXIMIRE Wisconsin

"I must say that this is one of the most careful education experiments I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experience I've had at Yale and Harvard."

SENATOR TALMADGE Georgia

"It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in the public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with good comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests.
